

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In one embodiment, a sensor includes two plates that form a capacitor. A droplet passing between the plates changes the capacitance of the sensor, thereby triggering an amplifier coupled to the sensor to generate an output signal. The output signal is 5 indicative of droplet characteristics and may be used to calibrate a mechanism that dispensed the droplet.